

Jtech Services at the heart of the Community

Jtech Services have been chosen to supply and install their LST Radiator Guards at the Community Hall for a small rural village in Herefordshire.

The existing MDF guards that were in place were in constant need of repair and upkeep and so a decision was made to replace them with something that was more robust and easier to care for. With the powder coated finish that is standard for the LST Radiator Guards maintenance generally means just a wipe of a cloth. What could be easier?

The SKS authorised locking system means that easy access is available for those who need access, but is secure enough to keep others out.

The detailed site measure that was taken meant that the installation was completed in about 1½ hours, so that there was no hold up in the use of the room for the rest of that day.

As the local Junior School also uses the rooms, there was a particular need to create a safe environment for the children to work and play in. The LST Radiator Guards from Jtech Services cater for all these needs and are the choice for many who need to create these environments.
